This Way to the Fun!

Glover Park Day, Saturday, June 3

Karen Pataky

Mark your calendars! Glover Park Day is just around the corner. Glover Park Day #32, our wonderful neighborhood festival, returns on Saturday, June 3 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Guy Mason Recreation Center. This year will be more exciting than ever!

The food court will be serving dishes from German sausages to pizza all day and the air will be filled with music by old favorites: Crush Funk and Hokum Jazz and two newcomers to our event, Glover Park's own Color School and Kiti Gartner and the Drifting Valentines.

This year will have even more exciting activities for kids! Thanks to the generosity of CommuniKids—a language immersion school with a branch in Glover Park—kids will be able to choose from moon bounces, face painting, arts and crafts and several carnival games.

And for you pre-teens and young teens, Hardy Middle School will again be operating a dunk tank where you will have a chance to dunk some of your favorite staff and teachers!

Want to register to vote but just don't have the time? We've got you covered. The DC Board of Elections will be at our event to register all eligible persons on site! For teens who will soon turn 18, that includes you!

Other highlights? DogChild returns with a challenging and fun dog agility course for all our canine friends. The Guy Mason Pottery Studio will be demonstrating their skills and selling their wares. And many artists and crafters from across the area will have exciting products for you to peruse.

Have a question for the DC government or community service groups? Many will be attendance to answer your questions. Check out the GPCA Glover Park Day website for a list.

Fear not, our traditional prize drawings are available all day for great prizes from local businesses. Of course, everyone will also be able to buy a t-shirt to add to their collection. Do you have all 32?? In case you couldn't attend last year, the 2022 t-shirts will be available for purchase at half price! Don't forget! Glover Park Day is the perfect time to renew membership in the Glover Park Citizens' Association.

Please come out to enjoy the festivities, catch up with old friends and meet new neighbors.

We look forward to seeing you on June 3!

President's Report

Peace Out for Summer

Lisa McCluskey

It's been a busy spring with lively discussions on bus routes, new traffic calming measures for biking and pedestrians, city budgets, changes at local schools and more.

So many Glover Parkers have once again stepped up to help make our city and neighborhood a welcoming, safe and sustainable place to live. I am amazed and thankful for the pride and volunteerism that we have in our community.

Many schools are already out for summer break, while DC Public School students and staff toil on until June 22. But already offices are starting up summer hours and many college-aged renters are packing up and heading out. This all means that the streets of Glover Park will soon be a bit quieter as we ease into another swampy summer lull.

This summer I hope that you take time to enjoy some of the simple pleasures of Glover Park life:

- Listen for the 8 a.m. playing of the national anthem at the National

Observatory as the flag is raised and again at dusk with the lowering "resting of colors," and bugle call.

- Watch a ball game at Guy Mason or at Stoddert's baseball field.
- Smell the BBQ wafting from mainstreet.
- Enjoy a walk in Glover Archbold Park and look for honeysuckle and check out what's growing in the Victory Gardens.
- Kick back with a neighbor and catch up.

See you at Glover Park Day from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on June 3! The GPCA membership table will have giveaways, including a special item just for GPCA members.

GPCA May 2023 Meeting Minutes

Alicia Allison

President Lisa McCluskey called to order the May 2 meeting of the Glover Park Citizens' Association (GPCA), held via Zoom, just after 7 p.m. She noted this would be the last meeting until September 2023, given Glover Park Day in June and then a summer break. Lt. Johnson of the Metropolitan Police Second District (MPD2) was not present, thus there was no police report this month. Instead, after welcoming members, Lisa turned to GPCA Treasurer Maggie Simpson for a report.

Treasurer's Report

The GPCA Treasurer reported assets of $16,050, down a bit from last month due primarily to the payment of the first tranche of a grant for Glover Park Village. (See the April 2023 Gazette for more details on the grant.)

Approval of the Minutes

The GPCA Secretary asked for a motion to approve the minutes from the April GPCA meeting. A motion was made and seconded, and the minutes were approved.

Guy Mason Updates

Marsha Goldberg shared that the monthly book group would meet May 17 from 11 a.m. to noon to discuss Dial A for Aunties by Jesse Sutanto. Copies of the book are available at Georgetown Library. Lunch and a movie will take place May 26 from noon to 2:30 p.m. The movie this month is The Princess Bride. Both events are free. Marsha said that she (and until recently with another colleague) had funded the lunch and a movie event until now, but that it had become quite popular and up to 20 people had been participating in recent iterations, with ages ranging from 60 to 90. The movies are free, but the cost of lunch was getting quite expensive, especially in light of recent inflation. Marsha asked for a grant from GPCA for $1000 to fund a year's worth of lunches for the monthly event participants. A motion was made and seconded to provide this grant, and the proposal will be voted upon in the September meeting.

Best of Glover Park Contest

Lisa McCluskey again shared information about a new GPCA contest, announcing that voting was open for Glover Parkers to bring some recognition to their favorite establishments. It is meant to be a fun way to showcase all the things that make our neighborhood so great.

Glover Park Day

Melissa Lane provided an update on Glover

Park Day, noting preparations are moving along. Crafters and community service organizations are signing up and volunteers are working on getting businesses signed up, as well to sponsor and participate. Business sponsors were down last year, as many were hurting after COVID, and organizers hoped those numbers will come back up now or next year. A number of items have become more expensive; using the field requires use of a generator, for example. Organizers will seek a grant from the ANC toward covering costs of the event. Communikids is sponsoring the childrens' activities, concluding two moon bounces, arts and crafts, and story time. Folks with muscles are need for set up and break down in particular. If you can help, please sign up on the Glover Park Day tab of gpcadc.org.

Bus Route Change

Two people had answered her call for volunteers to serve as focal points for advocacy regarding WMATA's proposed changes to bus routes that serve Glover Park. Aileen Nowlan (aileen.nowlan@gmail.com, 202-321-3721) and Jesse Herman (Jherman10001@gmail.com, 561-573-6229) will work with community members to gather information and develop an advocacy plan of action and draft a letter to WMATA. They are soliciting view from commuters, businesspeople, students, etc., and will seek to keep the community informed on developments they learn about in conducting this work. Aileen is a regular user, commuting to work on the D2; her child's preschool is also on that line. Jesse works for Congresswoman Eleanor Holmes Norton but is taking on this project in his personal capacity. He noted how important the 30s buses are in connecting both sides of the city. One meeting participant asked the volunteers to look at the WMATA issue in the context of a recent proposal to put on a $2 fee for Lyft/Uber rides. Participants in the meeting felt that the proposed changes could drive some people from public transport back into their cars. Another participant asked where Council Member Matt Frumin is on this issue, and asked the volunteers to look into that. Lisa remarked that GPCA is working on this issue in coordination with the ANC representatives, who have offered to gather all input and present it to appropriate officials. People can e-mail their input to anc3bmail@gmail.com.

School Updates

One meeting participant noted stakes had gone up on the property of Stoddert

Elementary School and asked about the status of the addition. Lisa McCluskey said that plans for the addition were still not finalized. There would be a meeting with DC Public Schools representatives and architects May 11 to over the plans again. Based on initial renderings, the community had asked that the cafeteria not be on the garden side of the building, but on the west side instead. This would allow for preservation of the land surround the 200 year old tree and still allow for ten additional spaces on the garden side. That plan would preserve parking as well. The Stoddert community had asked that ideally all additions be made in the back, but there is not enough funding to do it that way. Work continues to finalize the plans for this project. Meeting participants offered to lend their voices to advocacy efforts to preserve the Stoddert tree when/if needed, and Lisa stated that she would keep people informed if that would be needed. Separately, Lisa noted that boundary studies were coming up and that the Deputy Mayor of Education would be holding town halls on May 16 and 17. Community support is needed to keep our neighborhood from being divided and put into a pattern for a school that is less accessible. The Foxhall Elementary School design and build has been put on hold until 2029.

Voting for a New Board

The GPCA Secretary presented the slate of candidates that had been circulated to membership in April. Before calling for a vote, she asked if there were any additional nominations, calling particular attention to the position of Secretary for which we do not have a candidate. There were no additional nominations, and participants voted in the following Executive Committee for 2023-2024:

President: Lisa McCluskey; Vice President: Chris Finnegan; 2nd Vice President: Allen Tomlinson; Treasurer: Maggie Simpson; Sergeant at Arms: Frank Martorana; Secretary: Open (interested volunteers can contact Lisa McCluskey)

In Memoriam: Lou Stovall

Allen Tomlinson closed the meeting by sharing a remembrance about the well-known printer Lou Stovall, who had provided silkscreen designs for several-years' worth of Glover Park Day tee-shirts for a very minimal fee. Allen learned that Mr. Stovall passed away recently and recommended GPCA draft a tribute for an upcoming Gazette or GPCA event.

In Memoriam, Leslie Phillips

Randy Rieland

The neighborhood lost a long-time Glover Parker last month. Leslie Phillips, who lived on Observatory Place since the late 1980s, died in her home after a year and a half battle with cancer.

She's remembered as a devoted dog lover and as someone who enthusiastically engaged in sidewalk political discussions. She spent her career in the world of politics, first as a congressional reporter with USA Today, then on the staff of Senator Joe Lieberman, working for the Homeland Security and Government Affairs Committees.

More recently, she was director of communications at the Joint Economics Committee Democrats and an opinion writer at the Constitutional Accountability Center.

She will be missed by family, friends, and neighbors. And her dog Bear.

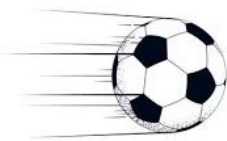

Blue Metros Win Columbia Invitational

Lisa McCluskey

DC Soccer Club's U13 Travel Team, Blue Metros, won the 48th Columbia Invitational Soccer Tournament on Memorial Day weekend. The team won all four games, including the final over Broadneck Soccer Club by 3 goals.

Four players on the team attend Hardy Middle School, and have been close friends and teammates for many years.
